

TELLING YOUR STORY

Volunteer Coordinator Forum

Attracting passionate volunteers to your organisation requires a great story. In this Forum, we'll engage in a series of fun, creative activities to help us think about our organisations from a new perspective and workshop how to tell our stories in interesting and fresh ways.

The Story Factory has successfully grown their Volunteer Program. Craig New, Volunteer Manager with Story Factory will build on our previous volunteer coordinators forum, Sharing Stories, to support you to develop your organisations' volunteer story.

Come along and explore innovative volunteer recruitment strategies that will inspire community members to volunteer with your program.
